<sup>3</sup>Excludes graduates continuing their education, those employed in non-education related positions and not seeking education related positions, foreign graduates legally ineligible to work in the United States/Canada and those unable to accept career advising assistance because of circumstances such as military deployment, national service (Peace Corps, Teach for America, etc.), participation in a religious mission, incarceration, critical illness or death.

<sup>4</sup>Excludes graduates who actively pursued employment for less than 180 days and did not become employed. Statistics for graduates of new programs that do not yet have graduates will be available approximately six months after the first classes graduate. Information presented is based on graduate-provided data. Also excludes programs no longer accepting applicants.

We're always here for you.

Career Services professionals across the DeVry system work diligently to partner with graduates to attain positions in their career fields. Although DeVry cannot guarantee employment, we're dedicated to helping guide and motivate our students and graduates through the career process. We work with them on career planning, job interviewing and resumé preparation. Students' career efforts are also supported by an employer database containing information on national and local companies, and virtual and onsite Career Fairs held periodically to enable our students to meet and network with recruiters of DeVry graduates. As a student at DeVry, you'll have the opportunity to partner with one of the most dedicated career services teams in education.
